Magnus Carlsen New Champion!!

Magnus Carlsen from Norway was crowned the 16th World Champion when he defeated Viswanathan Anand on November 22, 2013. Carlsen and Anand ended their match with a score of 6.5 to 3.5. Carlsen won games five, six and nine, all the rest were drawn. Carlsen was 22 years old when he won the title (his birthday was November 30). Interestingly Garry Kasparov also won the title when he was 22 years old back in 1985. The next closest champions in age were Mikhail Tal and Anatoly Karpov who were 24 years old.

Carlsen plays interesting chess. He does not devote the time to the openings as some of the past and current greats do. He likes to force things into unchartered territory and force his opponents to find the best move over and over. As Garry Kasparov has recently written on Twitter: Chess is a sport and sport requires taking risks, not just practice and skill. Opponent's errors is how you win. Push hard and punish mistakes!

On multiple occasions in the match Carlsen and Anand would reach a position most GM's thought was a draw or slight advantage. Carlsen would continue to play and put the pressure on Anand to hold the position. Anand did not hold. Possibly a new era on how the game is approached.

Here are two games from the match:

Anand gained an advantage in the middlegame forcing Carlsen to retreat his queen to h1. Carlsen used a temporary pawn sacrifice 28.e3 to open the position and reactivate his pieces. Anand did not play the best moves (e.g. he chose 29...Bd4 instead of Bxb2; later 34...Rf8 was possible) and began to exchange pieces, and offered a draw after move 41, which Carlsen declined. After the exchange of queens, an opposite-colored bishops endgame was reached, and the players soon agreed to a draw.

Self-confidence is very important. If you don't think you can win, you will take cowardly decisions in the crucial moments, out of sheer respect for your opponent. You see the opportunity but also greater limitations than you should. I have always believed in what I do on the chessboard, even when I had no objective reason to. It is better to overestimate your prospects than underestimate them. —Magnus Carlsen

GM Boris Gulko in Nebraska

By Mark Capron

On November 10 Boris Gulko gave a lecture and took on 18 players in a simul. I was fortunate enough to attend. The lecture consisted of Boris talking about some past world champions and some about the Carlsen—Anand upcoming match. He showed a very interesting game of his and then accepted questions from the audience. After this the room was rearranged into a circle shape of tables and the simul began. Gulko moved confidently from board to board making his moves. Each of his competitors were given two passes otherwise a move was expected when Boris circled around to your board. GM Gulko finished off most of the competition ending on a final record of 15 wins, 2 losses and 1 draw. Steven Cusumano (provisionally rated 1849) and Joseph Fitzpatrick (1757) were winners and Joe Knapp (1952) drew GM Gulko. For myself I lost but had a great time playing the game and meeting GM Gulko. Thanks goes out the John Hartmann and the Nebraska Chess Club for inviting me to join them.

Hello From the Editor:

Congratulations to Valeriy Kosokin who passed the 2300 mark.

There were not many submissions to this issue. Please consider sending in a game or an article.

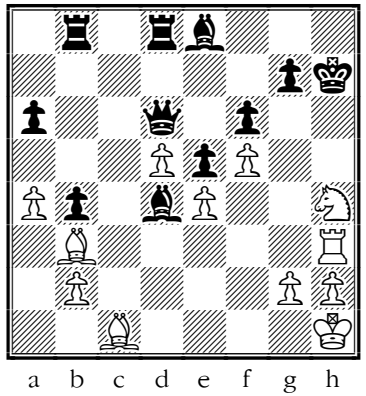
It looks to be a close race to see who gets into the Closed Championship this year. There are only two events in the cycle left. Come out and support the tournaments and see first hand who makes it into the Closed.

Note that the Class and Closed is very early this year and is on March 29-30. The annual meeting is on March 29 at 1pm.

I ran into a pretty neat book on my Kindle and from an email from Ron Nurmi. It is called Tactics Time. The book takes positions from games of amateurs and creates a tactics puzzle out of them. You might want to check it out.

As always when you see chess news please submit it. —Mark Capron

Puzzle Time:



White to move and win in four.

Errata: Dan Vasto pointed out an error in the last issue: In his game vs Tom Hesse (Hesse-Vasto pages 31-32), on move 30. White played 30.Rd1, instead of 30.Re3, as given in the text. Here is the corrected score:

How vain are our fears! I thought to myself. "Sometimes we fear that which our opponent (or fate) had never even considered! After this, then, is it any longer worthwhile to rack one's brain to find new ghosts to fear? No, indeed: All hail optimism! - upon his opponent Mattison missing an unusual knight manouevre.
—Nimzowitsch

Acknowledging that these days getting an advantage from the opening is well-nigh impossible, as everyone relies on top-notch computers for research, he tries to reach positions in which he is confident that he will outplay his opponents in the middle- or endgame. - Dirk Jan ten Geuzendam on Magnus Carlsen

It is important that you don't let your opponent impose his style of play on you. A part of that begins mentally. At the chessboard if you start blinking every time he challenges you then in a certain sense you are withdrawing. That is very important to avoid. - Viswanathan Anand

Chess is all about making decisions; if you don't want to take the time to make better decisions you can't make better moves.
--Dan Heisman

Without error there can be no brilliancy.
- Emanuel Lasker

In chess the most unbelievable thing for me is that it's a game for everybody: rich, poor, girl, boy, old, young. It's a fantastic game which can unite people and generations! It's a language which you'll find people "speak" in every country. If you reach a certain level you find a very rich world! Art, sport, logic, psychology, a battlefield, imagination, creativity not only in practical games but don't forget either how amazing a feeling it is to compose a study, for example (unfortunately that's not appreciated these days but it's a fantastic part of chess!). - Judit Polgar

Real chessplayers think about chess more or less 24 hours a day. It is a passion and a fate that one has to live with - and it lasts a lifetime. - Simen Agdestein

Louis Paulsen Holiday Open
By Mark Capron

It was a cold, cold day in Iowa City and 26 brave souls descended on the Kirkwood Room to battle for coveted qualifier points. In the end, Valeriy Kosokin emerged the champion with an undefeated score of 4 out of 4. This tournament pushed Valeriy's rating to 2310! Three players were on 3/3 at the start of the last round, Kosokin, James Neal, and Ziwen Zhou. The pairing's put Neal and Kosokin on board one with Zhou and Arshaq Saleem (2/3 lost to Kosokin in Round 3) on board two. Zhou and Saleem agreed to a draw after a short fight. At the time of the Zhou-Saleem draw it looked like Neal and Kosokin had barely started. Neal and Kosokin both ended up in time trouble and Kosokin was able to avoid the land mines better than Neal. This would have been interesting to see how this would have turned out if time had not come into play, but with G/70 it is hard to avoid time problems. Ziwen's 3.5/4 netted him second place. Ziwen was able to win vs. Dan Brashaw in a tense third round battle. Tony Thompson won the U1900 prize with a score of 3/4, his only loss coming at the hands of Daniel Medrano. Bill Broich won the U1500 prize and Anson James got the U1200 prize. Seth Koenig joined the tournament late and still got 3/4. Had he been there from the beginning things may have turned out quite different. The tournament brought back an old friend of mine Dr. Ashok Nakhasi (formerly of Waterloo). It was nice to see him again. Koening, Neal, Kosokin, Saleem, and Brashaw are in a dogfight for Qualifying points in order to join Keating and Zhou who are pretty much in. There are only two Qualifying events left: Winter Open (mini-qualifier) in Iowa City on January 11 and Cedar Rapids Leatherjackets (qualifier) on March 1-2.

Keating Wins Coralville Classic

By Mark Capron

Back in the 70's and 80's there was a Coralville Classic every year. It was one of my favorite events and drew a pretty good crowd. I wanted to try and resurrect the tournament and this year and on October 19 it felt like a success. Bob Keating ended up in clear first with an undefeated 4 point score. Dan Brashaw was second with a 3.5 score only giving up a draw in the last round to Arshaq Saleem. The U1900 Prize had to be chopped into thirds with Brian Archibald, Frank Li, and Pranav Krishnamurthy. IASCA President Eric Vigil and Edward Reedy tied for the U1500 prize. The U1200 prize was also split, this time by Scott Grzybowski and Josiah Power. The 35 players were a welcome surprise considering the advanced registration was quite slow. I hope to make this tournament a new tradition for the players of the 2000's.

Here are some games from this event:

2013 Iowa Blitz Chess Championship (National Chess Day, 10/12/2013)

By James Hodina

We had a wonderful event. We are a relatively small chess club by national standards. However, we drew 30 people for our Iowa State Blitz Championship held in Cedar Rapids. We signed up two new members. We also got two parents - who have family memberships with their kids - to play in their first tournament. Everyone kept saying how much fun they had. The 7 round event ended with a three way tie for first. Luke Schackenbach, Jake Schackenbach, and Jim White finished 6-1. Dan Medrano won the U1800 prize, Frank Bowers the U1600, Morgan Lu the U1400 prize, Chrsitine Denison and Anish Lodh shared the U1200 prize, and Alexei Tivanski wan the Unrated prize. Gokul Thangavel and Anish Lodh also shared the Top Youth prize and Steve Jacobs claimed the Top Senior Prize.
